HUERTA SCOFFS AT NEW REPORT

Mexican Dictator Laughs at Stories of His Resignation.

CARDEN DENIES RUMOR

British Minister Admits, However, that England Held Brazilian Post Open for Him.

Mexico City, Jan. 6.—Provisional President Huerta was told today that there was a report in London that he had resigned and that Minister Mosen had succeeded him. He roared with laughter when he had listened to the story and said it was the funniest thing he had heard in a month.

Sir Lionel Carden denied positively this evening that he would leave Mexico and go to Brazil at present. He said:

"I don't know how this story started, except from the fact that it has been well known in England that my government has been holding the Brazilian post open for me. But I have no intention of going there now. I am going to stay here."

Emiliano Zapata has notified the people of Cuernavaca that he will take that city by January 14.

Mistake Kills 208.

A passenger train on the Intercontinental Railroad south of Cuernavaca, in the state of Morelos, was held up today. Several passengers were killed and everybody on the train was robbed. Government reports say that 2,000 Zapatistas have been repulsed in an attack on Cuernavaca. One hundred and twenty were killed.

A rebel train on the road between San Luis Potosi and Aguascalientes was derailed by another band of rebels today. As a result of the mistake 208 were killed.

Gen. Huerta has issued a decree making all state bank bills legal tender in every part of the republic.

CARDEN SHIFT EXPECTED, DESPITE DENIAL MADE

Interest in the case of Sir Lionel Carden, British minister to Mexico, was increased yesterday by the announcement that the British foreign office had denied reports that Sir Lionel is to be transferred to the legation at Rio de Janeiro.

The British denial has not lessened in the slightest degree the conviction here that His Majesty's government did decide to transfer Sir Lionel largely because of the resentment in the United States of his published interview regarding the Mexican situation. The belief continues that not only will the change be made, as first reported from London Monday, but that it will be due to the desire of the British government to remove a possible cause of friction between that government and the United States.

The official denial reported from London is regarded in the light of a necessary consequence of a premature publication of the intentions of the foreign office. The immediate result of the premature publication was the proposed transfer of Sir Lionel is expected to be the relaying of the change for a considerable period.

The State Department has not had any word from the British government regarding the proposed change. This, and the fact that Sir Lionel Carden himself admitted that he had not been informed of his forthcoming transfer, is ground for the belief that the whole matter became known prematurely.

Personal friends of the British minister in Mexico assert that he would much prefer to go to Rio, though, of course, he would prefer to leave Mexico under more pleasant circumstances. Sir Lionel is now sixty-five years old. It is said, near the end of his life, and it is said on his behalf that he was averse to the hard work and trying circumstances accompanying the position of British minister to Mexico in the present conditions.

Advices to the State Department yesterday regarding conditions in Mexico were most meager. The gunboat Yorktown reported that conditions were bad at Ensenada, on the coast of Mexico, and that trouble is feared.

It was stated yesterday that there is no intention of withdrawing the American Embassy from Mexico City. It was

FIVE GUESTS OF HOTEL DIE IN FIERCE BLAZE

Kern Hotel in Newark Burns and Several Men Are Trapped by Smoke and Flames.

Newark, Ohio, Jan. 6.—Five men were burned to death and six other persons injured, two fatally, early today, when fire swept the Kern Hotel. But for the bravery of Arthur Grubb, the night clerk, a terrible loss of life would have resulted. Grubb was badly burned, but stuck to his post until the guests were aroused. The dead: August Ogilvie, "Dunkie John," an employee of the hotel; Joseph McFarland, two unidentified men. The fatally hurt: George Albert, James Russell.

"Dunkie John" and Ogilvie lived in a brick annex of the hotel. Their escape was cut off by a locked door and both were found suffocated in a hallway. They had torn off their finger nails clawing at the locked door.

The main building of the hotel was of frame, and was a roaring mass of flames within less than half an hour after the fire broke out. The stairway was burned away and many persons jumped for their lives.

The bodies of McFarland and the two other men were found beneath windows in their rooms. A woman escaped by leaping from a rear window upon the roof of the annex. Fire Marshal Emmet Deffenbaugh has ordered an investigation to ascertain if the proper safety regulations of life existed. The loss was only $10,000.

NO BAN FOR TANGO.

Bishop of Richmond Says Virginians Can Be Trained.

Baltimore, Jan. 6.—Bishop Dennis O'Connell, of the Richmond diocese, will place no ban on dances in America. He will not approve them, but on the other hand will not leave an order prohibiting the dance from being danced. In approaching the tango and the modern dances the bishop said:

"Chivalry is far from being dead in Virginia, and in all the rest of the South, and while it lives and flourishes, I shall not feel called upon to place a ban upon dancing among the Catholics of the diocese of Richmond. Virginians do not indulge in dances that are immodest or indecent. Neither do they indulge in dances that are productive of immodesty or indecency. The men there have too wholesome respect for the dignity of womanhood and the women are too jealous of their high estate to permit the self-respect in either or sex to be trailed in the dust of sensual dances."

VOTES FOR WOMEN TO BE THE ISSUE

Pros and Antis Aligning in Women's National Democratic League.

CONVENE HERE TODAY

Executive Committee May Reconsider Adverse Action on Mrs. Keating's Resolution.

There is merry war in the ranks of the Women's National Democratic League over the question of equal suffrage, and the campaign at the opening session at the New Willard today probably will be fought largely around the women's rights standard.

The Women's National Democratic League is an organization at present confined principally to the District of Columbia, but with hopes of reaching out through the Middle West and becoming a factor in national politics. It has as its avowed purpose to secure for women the right of suffrage, and to secure for them a comfortable position on the fence when the suffrage question has come up for discussion, until yesterday, when action at a conference of the executive committee, presided by Mrs. Edward Keating, wife of the Congressman-at-large from Colorado, virtually put the committee on record.

Mrs. Armes in Field.

This action, together with an already incipient insurgency against the organization directed by the acting president, Mrs. William A. Cullop, is expected to rally many members of the league around the standard of Mrs. George A. Armes, of the District, who is a pronounced advocate of woman suffrage, and who is a candidate for the presidency to succeed Mrs. Cullop.

Mrs. Keating did not go to the meeting for the consideration of the executive committee to the cause of equal suffrage, although Mrs. Keating, besides coming from a suffrage State, is an ardent suffragist. She carried with her what she fondly believed to be a perfectly innocuous set of resolutions, urging the appointment of a committee on suffrage in the House, the proposition now before the House, and the resolution specifically declined to commit either the Democratic party or the women's organization to the "votes for women" propaganda.

Mrs. Keating's Resolution.

After congratulating the President and the party on the legislative work of the year, and commenting optimistically on the increased civic activity of women throughout the country, the resolution concludes:

"We urge the Rules Committee of the House of Representatives to make a favorable report on the resolution providing for the creation of a committee on suffrage in the House.

"Without seeking, at this time, to commit the Democratic party or this organization to the advocacy of 'votes for women,' we contend that the proposed committee would provide a dignified forum for the consideration of an issue which is regarded as paramount by millions of our citizens."

This was introduced as a measure of peace in the room, which would pacify those clamoring for an open declaration in favor of woman suffrage, and at the same time not alarm those opposed to this advance. It fell far short of its purpose, however, as Mrs. Cullop, representative of the House, of Colorado, sprang a surprise by opposing the resolution. Mrs. John E. Baker, wife of Representative Baker, of California, came to Mrs. Keating's support, and the executive committee proceeded to divide. Mrs. Cullop, acting president, in the chair, threw her influence to the anti-suffrage side, and the resolution was tabled, but it brought out more clearly the line of cleavage between pros and antis which may dominate the election today.

May Reconsider Action.

Under the constitution of the league no report or resolution may be brought up on the floor of the convention unless it shall have been favorably acted upon by the executive committee. As long as this remains unamended, the suffrage resolution apparently will hibernate with the committee, unless that body takes to reverse itself. There was some talk last night of reconvening the executive committee for the purpose of reconsidering the action of yesterday.

It is more than probable that the suffrage question will be exploded on the

DR. KELLY TELLS OF RADIUM CURES

Surgeon Delivers Address Before the Women's Medical Society.

Dr. Howard A. Kelly, the Baltimore surgeon who has been treating Representative Bremner, of New Jersey, with radium, last night before the Women's Medical Society of Washington made a plea for more radium with which to combat cancer. With ten times as much radium as he has, said Dr. Kelly, he could save ten times as many lives.

Photographs projected from a lantern slide showed pictures of cancerous growths on men, women and children, which, Dr. Kelly said, had been cured by radium.

Dr. Kelly compared radium treatment of cancer with treatment by the knife, demonstrating by means of his lantern slides how radium had effected cures which could not have been accomplished with the knife. The score of women physicians and surgeons who filled the library of Dr. Soffe Nordhoff-Jung, at 125 Connecticut avenue northwest, where the lecture was held, were visibly impressed.

The lecturer said he owned one gram of radium, which was more than was possessed by any other individual in the world, but he needed ten times as much as he had. One of the slides was said by one of Dr. Kelly's hearers to be a picture of Representative Bremner, who was suffering from cancer of the left shoulder and arm of an emaciated man. Dr. Kelly described this subject as a great friend of his, who was one of the bravest men he knew and who was making a great battle for life against desperate odds.

Needs Ten Times More.

"I am very much afraid that my single gram of radium," said Dr. Kelly, "will not do him much good. If I had ten times as much I could cure him, because radium acts only where it is put, and I haven't enough of it to cover the area in this case."

He would not say that the man in question was Mr. Bremner. Previous to the lecture he had told a reporter that, while he hesitated to say anything about the Representative's condition, he thought there had been slight improvement.

"I think, though," Dr. Kelly said, speaking of the man in the photograph, "that my one gram of radium will at least do him some good, even though it will not cure him."

Dr. Kelly described how Mrs. Curie, the famous French scientist, had isolated radium.

TITANIC STATUE PLAN ACCEPTED

Design Submitted by Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney Is Selected.

Announcement Regarding Memorial to Be Erected Here Made by Mrs. John Hays Hammond.

Plans for the Titanic memorial submitted by Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, of New York, have been accepted by the Fine Arts Commission. The memorial is to be erected here to commemorate the heroism of the men who sacrificed their lives that the women passengers of the vessel might be saved.

The announcement was made yesterday by Mrs. John Hays Hammond, secretary of the Titanic Memorial Association, which has raised $43,000 for the erection of the memorial. She is also chairman of the committee that finally passed upon the designs. Mrs. Hammond issued the statement of the decision of the commission, preparatory to her departure from New York today for a six weeks' visit in Europe.

Mrs. Robert Chew, chairman of the District of Columbia Association, received a letter from Mrs. Hammond yesterday communicating to her the fact that the commission had approved the design submitted by Mrs. Whitney. Mrs. John Hays Hammond, president of the Titanic Memorial Association, also announced yesterday that Mrs. Whitney's design had been accepted.

Seven designs were submitted to the commission which, with Mrs. Hammond, made the selection. Some of the most prominent sculptors of the country were among the competitors.

Mrs. Whitney's design, it was learned last night, is a figure of a man, symbolic of heroism. The figure, in white marble, stands with arms outstretched and head thrown back, giving the impression from a distance of the Crucifixion.

The figure, which is nearly nude, is to be fifteen feet high. The peculiar position of the arms, the pose of the massive head, thrown slightly back, convey the impression of sublime sacrifice, the expression of the face, almost smiling, welcoming death.

The base of the memorial will correspond in height with the figure and will be of pure white marble. Figures of Lombardy poplar trees will form a background to the entire setting. The base extends around the statue on three sides, leaving the front facing an open space.

While the site has not yet been determined, the matter being still pending before the Fine Arts Commission is on the Tidal Basin in Potomac Park just below the Pan-American Building.

Announcement of the selection of Mrs. Whitney's design was made at a committee meeting yesterday. Announcement at this time, it was said, was due to the fact of Mrs. Hammond's departure for Europe.

Was Miss Gertrude Vanderbilt.

Mrs. Whitney formerly was Miss Gertrude Vanderbilt, daughter of Cornelius Vanderbilt, one of the country's most brilliant and successful financiers and one of the country's most successful artists. She is a sculptor of rare ability, and her work, which frequently has been exhibited in Paris, has been awarded many prizes. She has exhibited her art in galleries in this country and has won a position in the front rank of American sculptors.

Practically every city in the United States and in many European countries contributed to the $43,000 fund for the memorial which has been raised through the efforts of the Titanic Memorial Association. The work of raising the money was in the hands of a committee of 199, representing every State in the Union.

The officers of the association are: Mrs. Hey, chairman; Mrs. John Hays Hammond, secretary; E. J. Steilwagen, treasurer, and George X. McLanahan, counsel.
